

CAMP CONNECTED

What is Camp Connected?

This summer ASSET students are exploring all of the ways that children and families can connect with others using computers and smart devices. Camp Connected is a FREE weekly program that offers online activities focused on improving communication and social interaction, parent education opportunities, and most important - FUN! Your child will be able to see and interact with a camp counselor, other kids, and even parents, live on-screen. You can participate from anywhere with your internet-connected computer or smart device.

Who will be our camp counselors?

Each family's camp counselor will be an ASSET graduate student who is studying speech-language pathology at FSU. Before camp begins, your counselor will meet with you to talk about how you and your child can get the most out of Camp Connected. At this time, the software will be demonstrated so you will be ready to attend camp without ever leaving home.

Camp Connected is part of a personnel training program for FSU graduate students and is offered to families at no cost.

What do I do if I am interested in participating?

Camp Connected is designed for children ages 4-6 years who have autism or difficulties with social communication. Online group camp sessions will occur once a week, with one additional individual weekly parent coaching session. The program will continue for 6 weeks during the summer. Each 45-60-minute camp session will include interactive group games, short videos, and activities.

If you do not have a tablet or laptop but are interested in joining, we have a limited number of iPads we can loan on a first-come, first-serve basis.
