

FSU Center for Autism & Related Disabilities

Reading and Writing Strategies for High School Success

Join this four-week online series to learn reading and writing strategies to improve skills for greater success in your high school classes. Students are encouraged to bring their current reading and writing assignments to the online forum for discussion each week. This series is for high school students who are registered with FSU CARD. Note: A minimum of 6 clients must register to hold the training.

FSU CARD is dedicated to providing individuals with autism or related disabilities, their families, and professionals who work with them, free consultation, resources, and educational support to build knowledge, confidence, infrastructure, and sustainability within the community.
