

FSU Center for Autism & Related Disabilities Parents' Place for Middle School: Hygiene and Self-Care

Please join us as we discuss strategies for teaching hygiene skills to your adolescents on the spectrum. We will share ideas on how to use visual supports to help promote independence and tips on talking about the importance of good hygiene skills.

FSU CARD is dedicated to providing individuals with autism or related disabilities, their families, and professionals who work with them, free consultation, resources, and educational support to build knowledge, confidence, infrastructure, and sustainability within the community.
